SUN-POD

On this wonderful stage of the building, the independent enclosed spaces are like flexible magic cubes, capable of engaging in a magical interaction with the overall building space. When you need an open public communication area, they seem to be magically concealed and integrated, releasing a spacious and transparent large space where people can move around freely and communicate to their heart's content. When the need for privacy and concentration arises, these "SUN-POD" quickly piece together and divide into small spaces from the whole, as if instantly building private small castles.

Moreover, in these flexibly formed small spaces, the power of technology endows every corner with infinite possibilities. The built - in smart devices can be activated with one click, instantly transforming the small space into an efficient office collaboration pod where people can discuss project details enthusiastically. It can also be quickly switched into a high - definition and smooth remote video conferencing space. Even if they are thousands of miles apart, people can communicate and collaborate as if they were face - to - face, without disturbing others due to space issues, achieving a perfect integration of space utilization and efficient communication.
